Supplementary Material for
"FrameBreak: Dramatic Image Extrapolation by Guided Shift-Maps"

Yinda Zhang
National University of Singapore
elezhny@nus.edu.sg

Jianxiong Xiao
Massachusetts Institute of Technology
jxiao@mit.edu

James Hays

Brown University
hays@cs.brown.edu

Ping Tan
National University
of Singapore
ptan@nus.edu.sg

Panorama synthesis results

Figure 1 shows more results of panorama synthesis on various scenes. The first column is the input image. On the right hand side of each input image are the guide image (upper image) and the synthesized result (lower image).
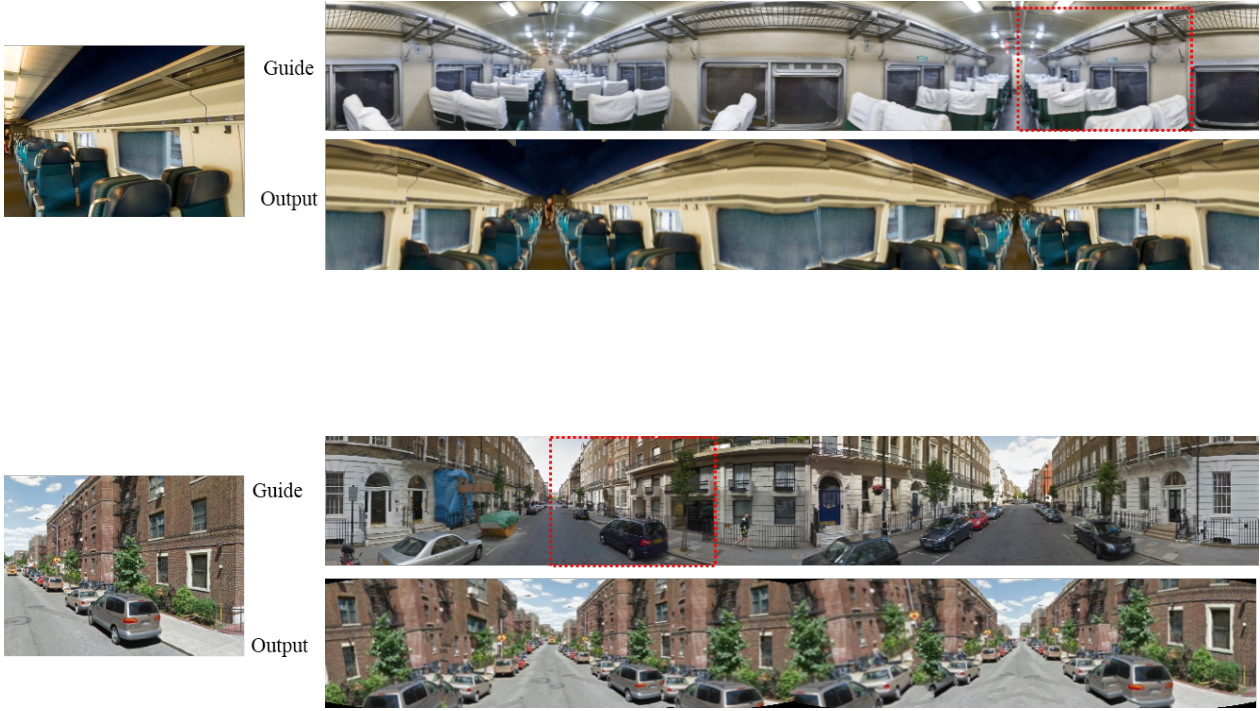

Figure 1: Panorama synthesis results on various scenes. The left column is the input image. On the right are the guide image and the synthesized image.